Introduction.

This is the application for The Google.org Impact Challenge: Tech for Social Good, an open call for European nonprofits, civic entities, academic or research institutions, and social enterprises looking for technical help and funding.

For the first time through this year's challenge, selected organisations can apply for a Google.org Fellowship, in addition to funding. The Google.org Fellowship dedicates teams of Google employees to complete up to six months of full-time pro bono work to accelerate the impact of technical projects for selected organisations.

The application is organised into sections corresponding with the criteria that will be used to evaluate applications.

Criteria.

1. Impact: How will your proposal address a critical societal challenge to drive tangible, real world impact for people and communities? Is the proposal grounded in research and data? How can a team of Google.org Fellows and their unique expertise help accelerate outcomes and widen the proposed project's impact?
2. Innovative Use of Technology: How will technology be effectively applied to accelerate high-potential solutions or enable new ideas that address the core problem? Solutions that responsibly apply AI, machine learning or data science are encouraged.
3. Feasibility: Does your team have well-developed and realistic execution plans supported by the resources and expertise required for implementation, such as technical staff and infrastructure? Do execution plans account for how to effectively absorb and leverage the expertise of Google.org Fellows over six months?
4. Sustainability & Scalability: How would your project continue and grow beyond support from Google.org? Proposals should include a plan for how the project will be sustained once the Google.org Fellowship is complete.

We strongly encourage you to submit your application in English, as post-funding support and communication between your core project team and a global team of Google.org Fellows will be conducted in English. Applications may also be submitted in Czech, French, Italian, and Swedish.

Google.org will invite high-potential organisations to submit additional project information and attend an interview. The invitations to the next stages of the Google.org Impact Challenge: Tech for Social Good will be sent on a rolling-basis.

We look forward to reviewing your proposals.

Instructions.

Thank you for applying to the Google.org Impact Challenge: Tech for Social Good. Responses in the form can not be saved for later completion. We strongly recommend drafting your responses in a separate document first and only completing the form when the entire application is ready for submission. This PDF contains a list of the questions in the application form for use in preparing your responses.

When you're ready to apply, please do so by completing this application form.

A few notes before you begin:

Please note that free response fields enforce a maximum response length per question and pasting of hyperlinks is not supported in this application.

There are a total of 56 questions, including 15 required text responses about your project.

Do not submit any confidential or proprietary information through this application as the details of your project proposal may be shared with internal or external experts to evaluate your proposal.

Protect your privacy! Please do not include any sensitive personally identifiable information in your response.

You must be using one of the following internet browsers: Apple Safari, Google Chrome, Microsoft Edge (Chromium Version), Mozilla Firefox.

Please review the Application Terms and Google's Privacy Policy before proceeding.

24. Please provide a general timeline overview with key activities and milestones for your project implementation (a list outline format is fine), and clearly indicate the activities where Google.org Fellows (Google employees) would be expected to contribute.

Illustrative example:

- By Q1 2023, conduct user experience research with 200 users
- By Q2 2023, design and refine the first draft of the app interface (involving Google.org Fellows and their UX design skills)
- By Q3 2023, build an MVP of the product (involving Google.org Fellows and their software engineering skills); etc...

Please note, a team of Google.org Fellows is composed of 5-15 Google employees for up to six months full-time.

Required, 150 words maximum.

-By Q1 1001

25. What skills would you want the Google.org Fellows to have?

For example, product management, back-end engineering, front-end engineering, data science, design, user experience research.

One way to think about the response to this question is what technical skills is your project team currently lacking that are critical to the success of your project?

Required, 150 words maximum.

Impact. How will your proposal address a critical societal challenge to drive tangible, real world impact for people and communities? Is the proposal grounded in research and data? How can a team of Google.org Fellows and their unique expertise help accelerate outcomes and widen the proposed project's impact?

26. Specifically, what would you be able to accomplish on this project with a team of Google.org Fellows that you would not be able to achieve on your own?

Required, 150 words maximum.

Succeed

27. If successful, what would be the impact and the outcomes of this project? What will be different in the world if this project has succeeded? Please quantify the potential impact as much as possible, and describe how you would measure the outcomes to beneficiaries.

For example: [Outcome 1] 20% decrease in crop destruction and pesticide usage.

[Outcome 2] 15,000 low-income job seekers placed into a job with increased wages and benefits.

Required, 150 words maximum.

30. Does your organisation currently open-source its code, or does it intend to? Any code created with the support of Google.org Fellows must be open sourced. Learn more about open source here and refer to our Application Terms for more information.

Required, select one.

- ☐ Our code is open-source and we plan to open-source the code created with the Google.org Fellows
- ☒ Our code is not currently open-source, but we intend to open-source the code created jointly with the Fellows
- ☐ Our code is not open-source and we do not plan on open-sourcing it
- ☐ Other, please specify:

31. Which of the following best describes the current state of the technical implementation of this project? Please note that we are willing to consider projects in the conceptual stage.

Required, select one.

- ☐ Concept: an idea that does not yet exist and will need to be built
- ☐ Prototype: a design that has undergone testing and validation
- ☒ Developed product: a launched and functional product

☐ Other, please specify:

32. Please add any additional context regarding the current state of the technical implementation of this project.

For example, you may want to elaborate on the following:

- If your project is in Concept: how have you determined that this is a promising idea that should be fully developed?
- If your project is in Prototype: any promising results of prototype testing to-date?
- If your project is a developed product: what improvements do you hope to make to your functional product?

Required, 150 words maximum.

Scale & Sustain. How would your project continue and grow beyond support from Google.org?

Proposals should include a plan for how the project will be sustained once the Google.org Fellowship is complete.

42. How would you ensure that your project can be successfully maintained once the Google.org Fellowship is complete? Please address organisational and technical resourcing in your response.

Required, 150 words maximum.

Yes

43. How could your project and its impact grow beyond what you've proposed in this application? For example, can it scale directly, serve as a model for other efforts, or advance the field?

Required, 150 words maximum.

Yes

Video Submission.

44. In a video of 90 seconds or less, help us conceptually understand your tech idea and what you hope to achieve with a team of Google.org Fellows. Depending on the maturity of your idea, you may consider submitting a product demo or a concept or prototype presented verbally with diagrams. As a reminder, we are willing to consider projects in the conceptual stage but hope you can use the video to help bring your idea to life. Please note that we will not place an emphasis on video production quality: a video filmed on a smartphone or other mobile device is perfectly acceptable! Video submissions should follow these guidelines:

- A length of no more than 90 seconds (we will stop watching at 90 seconds)
- Your video should not contain any images of identifiable children (under 18 years old) without expressed parental consent
- Your video should not contain third party content that you do not have the rights to
- The video should be in English, either spoken or subtitled
- Any content you provide, including personally identifiable information contained in the content, is subject to our Application Terms

Please upload your video to a file sharing platform of your choosing and copy the link into the text box below. Please ensure that the link will be accessible to the application reviewers.

Optional but strongly recommended, text box.
